Poison Fog In Meuse Valley Disappearing

BULLETIN
Washington, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Chemical war experts of the army expressed "serious doubt" today that the deaths in Belgium were caused by stores of poison gas. The opinion was based on the contention that a tremendous amount of gas would be necessary to spread over so large an area.

Brussels, Belgium, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Slowly as it had come, the suffocating pall of poisoned fog which has choked the life out of more than three score dwellers in the Meuse valley, began to disappear this morning as the sun bled through the mist.

If it had gone, however, it had taken with it the secret of its mysterious menace. Doctors in a dozen villages were too busy answering frantic calls to confer with the authorities seeking an answer to the riddle. They knew only that as the fog rolled in the victims coughed, choked and died.

No more deaths were reported today, and as reports came in from the stricken districts it began to appear as though this terror had passed. Government medical authorities were on the ground to begin their investigation, and they had all the cooperation they needed.

The simple folk fled their village homes in panic, or remained inside behind locked doors, could not be reassured, however, and persisted in the conviction that this death fog had come in waves of poisoned gas whose origin they did not attempt to explain.

Various theories were advanced to account for the visitation. One of the most striking was that of Professor J. B. S. Haldane, eminent British scientist, who said it was "something like the 'Black Death,' the mysterious plague which ravaged western Europe in the fourteenth century, laying low one third of the population."

Scientists practically abandoned the theory that poison gases, emanating from buried German ammunition dumps, was the cause of the deaths, which were regarded as spread over too wide an area for such to be the case.

The ministry of health undertook a searching medical and judicial inquiry and while awaiting its result before making an official statement, announced that the medical experts making preliminary investigations supposed the deaths to be due to the intensely cold, wet fog which has lain over the area since Wednesday.

One theory was that the persons affected by the fog were virtually all asthmatic, or afflicted with lung and heart ailments which made them susceptible to the unnatural conditions, or already had weakened lungs due

The Christmas Shopping Time

Christmas, the happiest, most appealing and busiest holiday of all the year, is just around the corner. The time is fast approaching when all of us find in giving gifts to make others happy and when parents especially enjoy a thrill that never grows old in preparing for the visit of Santa Claus to their children on Christmas eve.

During the recent weather that is more like spring than almost mid-winter, we feel the arrival of the Christmas season more by noticing the festive decorations that have transformed the show windows of our mercantile establishments and by the Christmas advertisements that crowd our newspapers than by noting the date of the calendar. It is hard to realize that, after today, there are only 15 shopping days before Christmas.

Every year we hear the doctrine of "do your Christmas shopping early" and that advice is just as sound and important this year as it ever was.

The reasons are obvious. At the present time, the period of Christmas shopping has just begun. Stocks of merchandise in our stores are still quite complete and there is a larger assortment to choose from.

The stores are not so crowded as they will be in a few days and the sales people have more time and more inclination to assist you in making your gift selections. In most cases, merchants will be glad to have and to reserve your purchases until later when you may call and pay for them. It is more pleasant and more profitable to do your Christmas shopping now.

We suggest that in making your preparations for your Christmas shopping tours you look over the advertisements of Kankakee merchants in the Republican. These merchants have placed these advertisements in the Republican to help you to make suggestions for your gifts and to tell you where to find them, and at what price they are sold.

Some people, after consulting the Republican ads, make out shopping lists, putting down the articles which they wish to buy and the names of the stores selling such merchandise. Others simply mark the items desired in the advertisements and take the ads with them on their shopping tours. Either method saves time and energy to avoid the crowds of belated shoppers.

Louis E. Beckman, mayor of Kankakee, has asked the people of this community to kindly observe the rules of courtesy in regard to the parking of automobiles overtime in the business district. Many shoppers come from the farming districts and from other communities, especially at Christmas time. If they are unable to find parking space, it will not encourage them to come again.

Our merchants, which make up the nucleus of the community, need all the cooperation that we can give them during this busy Christmas season. Let all of us Kankakee people observe these rules of parking in the business district. The merchants will be grateful.

KANKAKEE BOY QUIZZED FOR CAR THEFTS

JIMMY AUGUSTINO RELATED TO PRISONERS HELD AT COUNTY JAIL

FIND 4 STOLEN CARS

Angellotti Youth Permitted To View Dead Mother's Body
At Chicago Heights

A Kankakee youth is believed by county officials to be involved in the automobile theft ring which was unearthed in this county during the past week. The local youth who has been taken into custody for questioning is Jimmy Augustino, a cousin of Elmer Mulhall, Essex, and Armand Angellotti, Chicago Heights, who are held at the county jail.

The authorities now have four stolen cars which have been traced to the gang. The fourth car, a Buick, was found last night in a Coal City garage where another car had been located earlier in the week. The car last night was found by the local officers with the cooperation of Sheriff Purica of Grundy county. It had been in the garage only a few days and was recently sold by Angellotti, who has confessed his role in the crimes.

Car Found Here
Another of the cars was found at the Larsen Body Works in this city where it had been brought for repairs and renovation. The other two cars were found at Essex, one in Mulhall's possession.

Young Angellotti's mother was buried today at Chicago Heights. She was killed Thursday night on Highway 49 after returning from visiting her son in this city. The coroner's jury's verdict failed to state whether the death was accidental or otherwise, but it is thought that the woman may have decided to take her own life because of her many troubles of which she frequently complained. Her husband has been an invalid for many years and the son has been arrested on several occasions.

Views Body
Angellotti was taken to his home on the Lincoln highway near the state line road east of Chicago Heights. He spent nearly an hour beside his mother's casket at their home in company with Detective Don Blain and State Patrolman Skinny Hansen who brought him back before noon. His cell in the local jail. The boy was not permitted to attend the church services for his mother which were held at 9:30 o'clock. The funeral was largely attended, the line of cars extending over a mile in length.

Paul Seuteri and Tony Disandro, two Chicago Heights youths who had been accused by Angellotti of being members of the car theft gang, have been released from the local jail. They denied Angellotti's allegations and there was no evidence with which to hold them. They were with Angellotti's mother Thursday night when she was killed.

Pair Fined
Mulhall was arraigned before County Judge Henry F. Ruel today and was fined $200 and costs for having a slot machine in his soft drink parlor at Essex. George Barker, Essex restaurant owner, was fined $100 and released. Mulhall was returned to the county jail for failure to pay his fine and also is being held at a suspected member of the auto theft ring. The trial attracted a large number of Essex residents to the court room.

Will Rogers To Wire His Daily Comment

Will Rogers, world's greatest comedian, humorist, and commentator, will furnish a brief comment on world affairs by wire daily to this newspaper, beginning Monday.

Will Rogers is one of the three best known persons in the world. Can you name the other two? Of course they are Lindbergh and the Prince of Wales.

Rogers, who began life as an Oklahoma cowboy, now ranks as one of the foremost commentators on the life and time in which he lives. His daily comments on the news sent by wire to newspapers all over the United States, are read by millions every day.

Perhaps no person, not in politics, has ever had a more enthusiastic following than has Will Rogers. He has traveled all over the world, and is a personal friend of almost every notable man in world affairs.

Rogers owes his start in life to his ability to throw a lasso. He was such an expert at this phase of ranch work that he made a name for himself in the early roping contests, which later developed into what we now know as rodeos.

He went on the stage as a vaudeville entertainer and later was a prominent part of Flo Ziegfeld's Follies. He began writing for the newspapers while in the Follies.

Rogers lives in Beverly Hills, California, with his wife and family. He sends out most of his comments on the world's news from his home and also frequently broadcasts over a nationwide radio hookup from Beverly Hills.

SEAMSTRESSES KEPT BUSY IN WELFARE WORK

A visit to the work rooms of the Committee on Supplies of the Community Welfare Movement on the third floor of the Court House would be a most interesting experience for any citizen of Kankakee just now. The well-organized departments of cutting, remodeling and sewing, under the supervision of Mrs. Ida Bird, the group of experienced needlewomen so conscientiously at work two or three days per week, as need requires, and the remarkable products of their skill and design, would do justice to any well-known mercantile establishment in the state.

Then a visit to the distributing department on the first floor, in charge of Mrs. Mann and Mrs. Leonard Smith, and a view of the callers at this office of fathers, mothers, boys and girls in need of assistance, would arouse our more prosperous men and women to an immediate practical concern about sewing in their donations of clothes, shoes, underwear, bedding and food supplies.

Practically all clothing and materials that could be worked over yesterday. Unless further supplies are reported or delivered on Monday morning, a number of willing workers will be idle and many in need, disappointed.

A valuable and much appreciated gift of new clothing for children has been received from the Misses Hattie Shreffler, Hilda Joergens, Scanlin and Cassie Friedewold, who are employed in East Court street homes, and have been spending their evenings sewing for this worthy object, under the supervision of Mrs. E. N. Greenman and Mrs. Davis, who contributed the materials.

The list of stolen property, according to information received by Chief Stack from Tulsa police today, include the following articles: one three-carat solitaire diamond ring, one two and one half-carat solitaire diamond ring, one one and one half-carat diamond ring, one large unset ruby, one dinner ring with a one and one half carat diamond in the center and three other diamonds around it, one lavalliere with a large pear shaped mounting, one brooch with eight diamonds, one three-carat size in the center and the others ranging from one to two

LOCAL MEN CAPTURED BY STACK

BELIEVED TO HAVE ROBBED
OKLAHOMA HOTEL OF

Willard LaRoche And Arthur
Clark Refuse To Admit Robbery In Spite Of Evidence

Two local men, believed beyond all question to be the pair who on last Tuesday night, December 2nd, effected an armed holdup of the Mecca hotel at Tulsa, Oklahoma, escaping with diamonds, watches and similar articles valued at about $12,500 belonging to the guests of the hotel, were captured here this morning by John Stack, chief of the Kankakee police department, assisted by Ed Imming, city detective, and Gene LaFontaine, motorcycle officer.

The men are: Willard "Frog" LaRoche, 30; and Arthur "Artie" Clark, alias Jack Hess, 36. They were arrested at the home of LaRoche's relatives, 680 North Rosewood avenue, at about 9:30 o'clock.

According to information secured from Tulsa police authorities at the request of Chief of Police Stack, on Tuesday night about 7:00 o'clock, LaRoche entered the lobby of the hotel, armed with a gun, held up the people assembled in the lobby and forced the proprietress of the hotel, Mrs. Maude Baker, to open the hotel safe and hand over to him the valuables. Clark is named as an accomplice in the robbery. Warrants charging the pair with grand larceny are held by the Tulsa authorities.

Had Ford Car
After the holdup, it is claimed, LaRoche and Clark escaped in Clark's Ford roadster, bearing Illinois license number 1-272-178. This car was in the possession of the two men when they were captured today and the license number corresponds with the information sent from Tulsa.

Several weeks ago, Clark and LaRoche were arrested in Tulsa on suspicion that the Ford car had been stolen. At this time their photographs and descriptions, as well as their finger prints, were taken. They were later released when Clark furnished a legitimate bill of sale for the automobile. The pictures and descriptions which the Tulsa authorities hold are those of Clark and LaRoche, it is alleged.

At the time of this writing, Chief Stack and his men had been unable to talk with the prisoners at any great length, being called out on several reports of stolen cars and burglaries. During what conversation they had been able to have with LaRoche and Clark, the prisoners persisted in denials of having effected the holdup and stated that they had no knowledge of the stolen property. In the face of the great amount of evidence against them, it is expected by the police that confessions will be forthcoming soon.

Are Local Men
LaRoche's parents are said to be Mr. and Mrs. Theo LaRoche, who reside at 680 North Rosewood avenue. Clark's parents, both deceased, are said to have been former residents of this city. It is alleged that he is a nephew of Sylvester "Toots" Clark of this city.

Arcadia is a picturesque district of the Peloponnese, Greece, and is the traditional home of pastoral poetry. The name figures largely in Greek mythology. Figuratively "Arcadia" is applied to any region of ideal rustic simplicity and contentment.
